From PowerBoat Guide:

"2016 PowerBoat Guide

In production for only a few years before Wellcraft turned their attention to fishing boats only, the 3300 Martinique was the company's economy-class entry in the highly competitive midsize sportboat market. The Martinique's inboard power is notable— most other express boats this size come with sterndrive power. Notable, too, is her deep-V hull that delivers an exceptional rough- water ride. The interior follows the standard midcabin approach seen in most of today's family cruisers with berths for six, a capable galley area (with lots of counter space), decent storage, and a compact head with sink and shower. Privacy curtains separate the fore and aft sleeping areas from the main cabin, and two overhead hatches and four opening ports provide adequate cabin ventilation. The cockpit is arranged with a sun lounge opposite the helm, a U-shaped settee aft, wet bar, and transom door. Service access to the engines is very good, and a walk-through windshield provides access to the bow. Among several engine options, twin 310hp V-drive MerCruisers cruise at 20 knots (28–30 knots top)."

DESCRIPTIONS

Generic Description

The Wellcraft 3300 Martinique has a roomy cockpit that features courtesy lights, chart covers, and a vinyl coated Sunbrella Bimini top. The cockpit has a fully equipped lounge with hot and cold faucets, wetbar, comfortable seating and convenient storage. The additional starboard lounge with removable table is roomy and comfortably seats eight. The helm features a chart cover, custom wood grain steering wheel, full instrumentation, and AM/FM CD stereo with eight speakers. The cabin provides the ultimate in amenities, including a spacious forward double berth, a midcabin full-sized berth, and a convertible dinette with portal windows and skylight. Throw pillows and a comforter complete the decor package belowdecks. Each sleeping area offers a high level of privacy and comfort with the additional luxury of indirect lighting. The galley represents tasteful styling with Granulon countertops, a polished stainless sink, cherry wood cabinets, and all the amenities of a first-class ship including microwave oven, refrigerator, and electric stove. With a molded fiberglass sink, handheld shower, and vanity with Granulon countertop, the head compartment is fully-equipped.
